

2023 Jeanette Moss Award

Dr. Elizabeth Emma Palmer

Hello everyone!

We have exciting news about who received

- 2023 Jeanette Moss award

Jeanette Moss was the first person

- To win this award in 1988
- She is a mother of a person with intellectual disability

This award is given out

- By Self Advocacy Sydney
- Every 2 years

This award is given out to a person who

- Has done outstanding work
- In the field of Intellectual Disability

This year Dr Elizabeth Emma Palmer

- Received Jeanette Moss award

Please read below what the award

- Means to Dr Emma Palmer

Dr Emma Palmer wrote:

I got an award

- from Self-Advocacy Sydney

I have been a doctor for about 30 years

Happy

This was my proudest day as a doctor

I always learn so much

- when I meet self-advocates

Bad

I learn what is wrong in health care

How people often

- feel scared
- do not trust health care workers

Because health care workers often do not

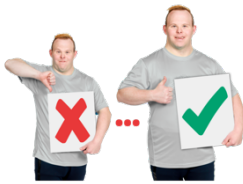

- explain things well
- give people choices
- include people

Some health care workers

- ignore people
- say hurtful things
- abuse people

Self-advocates have told me and our GeneEQUAL team

- how to do things better
- what health care should be

Then we can share these great ideas with

- health care workers
- health care students

I hope I can keep working

- with Self-Advocacy Sydney

So we can share more

- of their great ideas

And together we can

- make health care better!

Thank you so much Self Advocacy Sydney

Thank you Julie and Iva

- You are my inspiration!